Court begins tape deliberations

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court has begun deliberations — based on 459 pages of briefs, three hours of oral argument and a file including still-secret material — on President Nixon's Watergate claim of executive privilege.

A lawyer for special Watergate prosecutor Leon Jaworski, Philip Lacovara, asked the court in a historic hearing Monday to "explicitly, decisively and definitively" uphold a lower court order directing Nixon to produce records of 64 White House conversations.

But the President's attorney, James D. St. Clair, said the court "ought to stay its hand," at least until impeachment proceedings have run their course in Congress.

After its 180-minute hearing, the Supreme Court adjourned with no indication of when it will reach a decision.

There was only one reference in the hearing to the secret part of the record that the court has before it.

Jaworski, arguing that the Watergate grand jury had the authority to name the President an indicted coconspirator in the Watergate cover-up, said the question is important because "it does relate to the relevance of the proof that we are seeking."

"And this gets into, of course, a discussion of matters that are sealed and which I cannot discuss with the court," Jaworski said.

"I understand," said Justice Potter Stewart.

The sealed material includes arguments presented before U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica on the President's motion to quash the subpoena for the tapes and documents.

The briefs in the case include 197 pages from St. Clair, 235 from Jaworski and 27 in a brief by the American Civil Liberties Union, which the court agreed Monday to consider. The ACLU opposes the President's claim.

Eight justices heard arguments and will decide the case. Justice William H. Rehnquist disqualified himself because he is a former assistant to Mitchell, one of the defendants in the Watergate cover-up trial.

Rehnquist's absence raises the possibility of a 4-4 tie. This would uphold Sirica's order without establishing any precedent on the legal questions involved.

Spokesmen for Nixon have declined to say whether the President would abide by a Supreme Court decision against him.

There are a number of ways the court could decide the case. It will thrash out its decision privately and probably announce it within two weeks.

It could decide that Sirica's order was not appealable, thus putting it back into effect without passing on the constitutional questions.

It could hold that the argument is one within the executive branch and thus sealed from court interference by the doctrine of separation of powers. Or it could decide that Jaworski did not prove the material he wanted was relevant. Either decision would strike down Sirica's order.

If the court decides the material is relevant and that the courts have jurisdiction, it must decide the President's claim of executive privilege.

Jaworski has said the conversations covered by the subpoena deal with future testimony by White House aides and with how to handle payments to Watergate defendants.

St. Clair said in court he does not know what they contain.

"How do you know that they are subject to executive privilege?" one of the justices asked.

"I do know that there is a preliminary showing that they are conversations between the President and his close aides," St. Clair said.

He said such confidential conversations of a president would be covered by executive privilege even if they involved criminal matters.

St. Clair noted in his argument that Jaworski has said the subpoenaed (Please turn to page 2)

Panel ready to publicize differing tape versions

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Judiciary Committee is ready to make public its transcripts of eight presidential conversations and an analysis of how its versions differ from those released by the White House.

Release is scheduled for late today.

Many of the differences between the White House and committee transcripts of the Watergate-related conversations already have leaked out of the closed impeachment inquiry sessions.

For example, it was disclosed from the leaked committee transcript of a Sept. 15, 1972, conversation that the President and aides H. R. Haldeman and John W. Dean III had discussed the possibility of retaliating against The Washington Post for its Watergate coverage.

That part of the conversation had been omitted from the White House transcript.

Other differences were disclosed in a series of staff memorandums written for the committee members but which also leaked out.

The committee staff, using sophisticated electronic equipment, made its transcripts from tapes the panel received from the White House and the Watergate grand jury.

In many cases the staff transcripts filled in portions marked inaudible in the White House versions and also included material deleted entirely in the transcripts President Nixon made public April 30.

Most of the differences made known so far involved changes in emphasis rather than substance. None apparently provided definitive answers to such questions as whether the President authorized payment of hush money to Watergate conspirator E. Howard Hunt Jr.

Release of the transcripts is to be the first step in the disclosure of thousands of pages of evidence the impeachment inquiry staff has presented the committee in closed sessions that began last May 9. It will include the initial presentation by James D. St. Clair, President Nixon's defense lawyer.

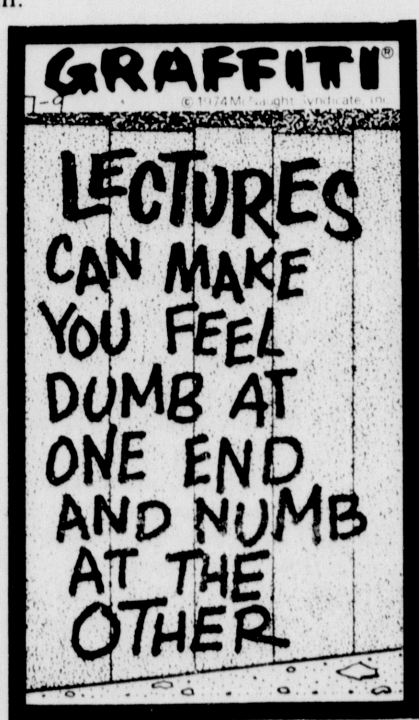

Retaliation against The Washington Post as leaked from the committee's Sept. 15 transcript was disclosed in a conversation in which Nixon points out that licenses of Postowned television and radio stations required renewal periodically by the Federal Communications Commission.

That transcript also quoted Nixon as saying of Edward Bennett Williams, attorney for the Post and also for the Democratic National Committee:

"I think we are going to fix the son of a bitch. Believe me. We are going to. We've got to, because he's a bad man."

A committee staff memorandum said that during the March 22, 1972, conversation involving Nixon, Dean, Haldeman, John D. Ehrlichman and John N. Mitchell, Nixon made the following comments to Mitchell that were not included in the White House version:

"I don't give a — what happens. I want you to (unintelligible) stonewall it, plead the Fifth Amendment ... Even up to this point. The whole theory has been containment as you know, John ... That's the thing I was concerned with—we're going to protect our people if we can."

Ehrlichman denies role in break-in WASHINGTON (AP) — John D. Ehrlichman has testified he had no idea the White House plumbers were planning an illegal burglary when he approved a covert operation to examine the file of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist.

The former White House domestic affairs chief either challenged or said he had forgotten every single element of the prosecution's case during his testimony Monday in the plumbers trial.

With five hours on the stand behind him, Ehrlichman is to be cross-examined for approximately another two hours today by associate special prosecutor William H. Merrill.

The 49-year-old Ehrlichman and three others are accused of violating the civil rights of Dr. Lewis J. Fielding, a psychiatrist treating Daniel Ellsberg at the time the former Pentagon analyst leaked the Pentagon Papers to the press.

On the stand, Ehrlichman seemed controlled and unshaken by the accusations of conspiracy and lying to the FBI and a grand jury. His trial is in its ninth day.

He gestured confidently and answered questions by speaking directly to the jury of six men and six women.

U.S. District Judge Gerhard A. Gesell, however, found the content of many of Ehrlichman's responses to be lacking.

"This man is not able to answer specific questions directly. He gives very rambling answers," Gesell said in urging defense attorneys to ask detailed questions about the break-in itself.

When the Ellsberg operation was broached, Ehrlichman testified he believed E. Howard Hunt Jr. and G. Gordon Liddy, two members of a White House unit called the plumbers, went to California over the Labor Day weekend in 1971 for a general investigation of Ellsberg's motives and background.

Liddy, Eugenio R. Martinez and Bernard L. Barker also are defendants in the Sept. 3, 1971, break-in.

Ehrlichman said it was a job other (Please turn to page 2)

Mitchell schedules panel appearances

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell will appear before the House Judiciary Committee as White House lawyer James D. St. Clair keeps the impeachment inquiry focused on a $75,000 payment to Watergate burglar E. Howard Hunt Jr. Mitchell, under indictment on Watergate cover-up charges, reportedly has agreed to undergo limited questioning on his role in approving the March 21, 1973, payment.

The committee will hear from Hunt's lawyer, William O. Bittman, before examining Mitchell today, and will wind up St. Clair's list of witnesses with former White House counsel John W. Dean III, probably on Wednesday.

St. Clair is attacking the charge that President Nixon approved the payment to keep Hunt from talking about "seamy things" he did for the White House. Monday, however, one of his witnesses, Frederick C. LaRue, reportedly was not as strong a witness as St. Clair had anticipated.

LaRue, a former official in Nixon's re-election campaign committee, was expected to testify that Dean called him on the morning of March 21 to relay Hunt's request for money.

St. Clair, who described LaRue's expected testimony to the committee in a letter requesting he be called, hoped to establish that the payment was thus set in motion before Dean's March 21 conversation with Nixon, in which the President appears to order Dean to get the money to Hunt.

However, members who left the closed session after LaRue's testimony said LaRue was uncertain about the time of Dean's call.

He is reported to have said that while to the best of his recollection the call came in the morning, it could have been some other time.

Murder statement read in Houston slayings

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — "I killed several of them myself with Dean's gun and helped him choke some others. Then we would take them and bury them in different places."

So reads a statement Elmer Wayne Henley, an 18-year-old high school dropout, gave police after his arrest in connection with the slaying of 27 young men in the Houston mass murders case.

The statement, taken last Aug. 9 by Sgt. David Mullican of the police department in the Houston suburb of Pasadena, was read into the court record Monday as testimony started in Henley's murder trial, being held here on a change of venue. Henley is charged with six of the slayings.

As the jury of six men and six women listened, Dist. Atty. Carol Vance read the statement in which Henley told of being paid $200 for each teen-aged male—many of them his friends and neighbors—he procured for Dean A. Corll, 33, who has been described by police as the leader of a homosexual torture and murder ring.

Henley said in the statement he gave Mullican that he helped kill and bury at least six of Corll's youthful victims.

Henley was arrested last Aug. 8 after he phoned police and told them he shot and killed Corll following an all-night sex and drug party at Corll's home in Pasadena. Corll's slaying was ruled self-defense.

Another youth, David Owen Brooks, 19, has been charged in four of the 27 deaths. Brooks' trial date has not been set.

Mullican and Pasadena policeman J.B. Jamison testified that Henley told them about the slayings and led them to 27 bodies, six of which remain unidentified. Their testimony came after District Court Judge Preston Dial denied 30 objections by defense lawyer Will Gray.

The bodies were discovered in a Houston boat shed, a wooded area near Lake Sam Rayburn in East Texas and on the beach at High Island.

Henley said in his statement to Mullican that he was introduced to Corll by Brooks when he was 14.

"Dean told me that he belonged to an organization out of Dallas that bought and sold boys, ran whores and dope and stuff like that. Dean told me that he would pay me $200 at least for every boy that I could bring him and maybe more if they were real good looking."

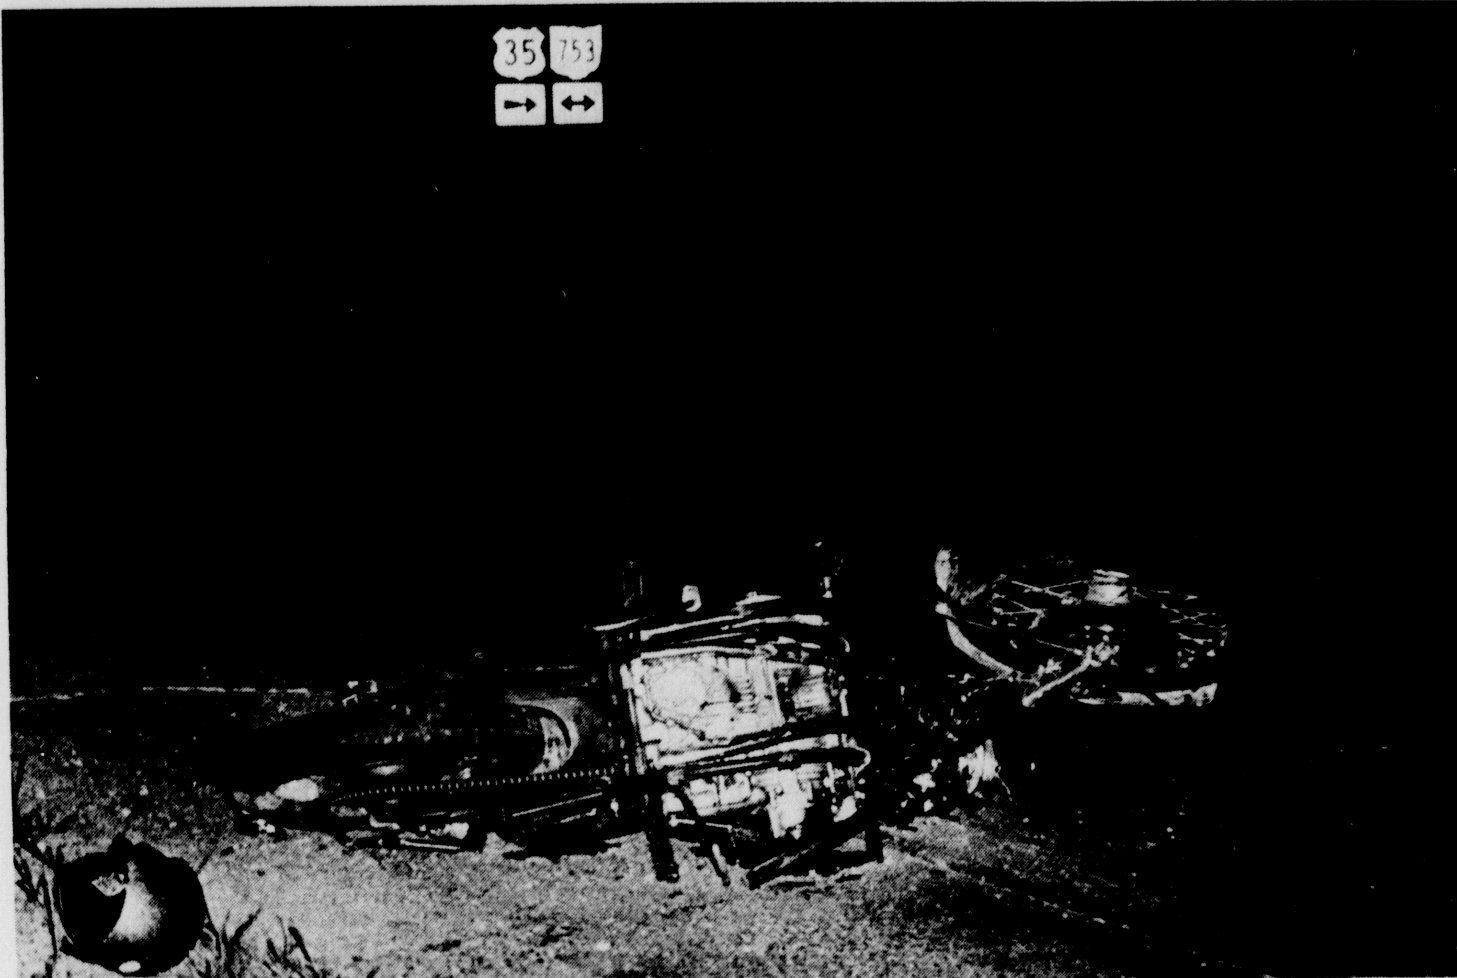

Henley said he refused then. But he said a year later he helped Corll lure a teen-ager to the Corll apartment and trick him into trying on handcuffs. Henley said he left and the next day was paid $200 by Corll.

"Then a day or so later I found out that Dean had killed the boy," Henley said in his statement. Henley said that before killing the youth, Corll had homosexually raped him.

"This was the start of the whole thing," the statement said. "And since then, I have helped Dean get other boys. I don't remember exactly how many."

Henley is charged with killing Charles C. Cobble, 17; and Marty Ray Jones, 18, both of whom lived across the street from him; Frank A. Aguire, 18, a boyhood playmate; Johnny Delone and William Ray Lawrence, 15, also neighbors; and Homer Garcia, 15, with whom Henley attended a driving school.

MINUS MUFFLERS—This motorcycle driven by Robert McNutt was too noisy for street use at 1 a.m. this morning. When Police Specialist Bill Cales attempted to stop McNutt for excessive noise, McNutt fled at a speed of 90 miles per hour. He failed to negotiate a right curve on U.S. 35, leading into Ohio 753 and crashed into guardrail.

Youth hospitalized after crash

Cycle rider escapes death following high-speed chase

A high-speed chase between Washington C.H. police officers and an area motorcyclist ended in near tragedy early Tuesday when the motorcycle rider crashed into a guardrail on Ohio 753 and was seriously injured.

Robert Lee McNutt, 24, of 905 E. Temple St., the motorcyclist, is presently hospitalized in Riverside Hospital, Columbus, where he is being treated for a compound fracture of the lower left leg, a scalp laceration, possible head injuries and a possible fracture of the left elbow and suffered in the 1:13 a.m. accident.

The chase began at 1 a.m., when McNutt and Rick Smith, 23, of 102 W. Elm St., drove their cycles, which were not equipped with mufflers, past a police cruiser driven by Police Specialist Bill Cales and Ptl. Larry Mongold in the vicinity of S. Fayette and East streets.

Spec. Cales attempted to stop McNutt and Smith for excessive noise. Smith slowed, but McNutt fled, heading south on S. Fayette Street at a speed of 90 miles per hour and avoiding two red lights; one at Roberts Drive-Inn and the other at Sunnyside Elementary School.

SPEC. CALES reported McNutt attempted to turn off on Ohio Avenue, but due to his extreme speed, was forced to keep traveling south. Spec. Cales then lost sight of McNutt until he rounded the last curve leading into the Ohio 753 intersection and discovered the cycle lying on its side near the guardrail.

Reports based on skid marks, pieces of the motorcycle and spilled oil and gasoline, indicate McNutt lost control on a right curve and ran off the left side of the road, traveling 63 feet on the left berm, he then smashed into the guardrail and was thrown from the cycle 72 feet from where the guardrail was struck. The cycle was located on the roadside 89 feet from the point of initial impact, police said.

McNutt was found in the ditch on the other side of the guardrail, lying on the rocks in a semi-conscious state, according to the report.

Gerstner-Kinzer ambulance service was dispatched and he was rushed to Fayette Memorial Hospital and later transferred to Riverside Hospital, Columbus.

Investigating the accident at the scene were members of the Fayette County Sheriff's Department, Sgt. William R. Crooks and Auxiliary Deputy Ken Smith.

Deputy Smith had received the call for assistance Spec. Cales put out over the air and had been heading down Ohio

State solons study surplus

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — It may take "about a week of real hard negotiations" to get a bipartisan agreement on a supplemental appropriations bill, newly enriched by an $80.5 million budget surplus.

That was the view Monday night of veteran Rep. Myrl H. Shoemaker, D-88 Bourneville, the committee chairman who said he was not particularly worried after the first meeting fizzled.

The Senate-House panel met in almost a circus atmosphere, and it was only 35 minutes until the three Republicans and three Democrats filed out of the steamy committee room.

It was jammed to the doors with about 50 sign-carrying state employees demanding a pay raise. The members of the Ohio State Government Employees Union had picketed the Statehouse earlier.

Shoemaker adjourned the proceedings after a partisan dispute on a matter previously not considered a point of contention. It was whether to spend $43.5 million in expected state lottery proceeds, on top of the $80.5 million surplus unveiled earlier Monday by Gov. John J. Gilligan.

The chairman said he intended to talk privately with committee members in the hope he can reconvene the panel today.

Shoemaker declined to call the aborted session a complete breakdown. "We couldn't do anything in an atmosphere like we had in there tonight," he said, adding that some future meetings may be in private.

He announced he would reconvene the committee "at the call of the chair" after the three Republicans on the six-member panel said they wanted to review earlier recommendations to spend the $43.5 million in lottery proceeds.

With the lottery money, the bill for supplemental appropriations for the fiscal year ending July 1, 1975, would be expanded to $124 million, under proposals sent to the legislature by Gilligan.

Republicans who said they predicted the budget surplus "almost exactly" had already put together their version of a bill that calls for spending $81.8 million, including lottery funds.

Priorities clashed sharply when the legislature adjourned June 12, but Gilligan came up Monday with a list of four new priorities that could pave the way for at least some bargaining.

Without listing dollar amounts, Gilligan proposed spending the $80.5 million on additional aid to education, a state employee pay raise, pension increases for state employees who retired prior to 1955, and additional assistance for Xenia and other areas stricken by tornadoes last April 3.

Shoemaker and the other Democrats on the conference committee—Rep. Vernal G. Riffe Jr., D-89 New Boston, and Sen. Oliver Ocasek, D-27 Akron, each indicated they intend to support the governor's priorities. They never (Please turn to page 2)

Scattered showers late today or tonight may bring some temporary relief from the hot and humid weather, the National Weather Service says. Otherwise, not much change is seen until Thursday or Friday as a cold front moves southeastward from Canada near Lake Superior.

The hot and humid weather continues over the state today as well as much of eastern and southern United States. Conditions Tuesday will be a repeat of Monday for most sections, as high pressure remains near the Ohio Valley.

Monday night temperatures were near 70, but sunshine will push the mercury up into the 80s and low 90s again Tuesday afternoon under partly cloudy skies.

A chance of showers Thursday, fair Friday and Saturday. Highs from the upper 70s to low 80s north and from the low to mid 80s south. Lows in the 60s Thursday and in the upper 50s and low 60s Friday and Saturday.

Hot, humid air clings to nation

By The Associated Press

Heat and humidity clung to most of the nation from the central Rockies to the Atlantic today after spawning tornadoes as well as heavy rain in a number of states.

Funnel clouds were seen Monday in Texas, New Mexico, Alabama, Georgia, Florida and Minnesota. Winds gusting to 81 miles an hour were recorded at Albany, Minn.

A storm that moved inland dumped unseasonably heavy rains over northern California and showers were expected to continue in the northern and central Pacific Coast.

In the Midwest, more than an inch of rain fell in an isolated thunderstorm at Decatur, Ill.

A widespread outbreak of heat drove temperatures into the 90s or higher Monday in much of the eastern two-thirds of the nation. The mercury hit 101 at Minneapolis-St. Paul, Minn., the hottest July 8 there in 26 years. Readings of 100 or above also were recorded in adjacent sections of Wisconsin and the Dakotas.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 49 at Klamath Falls, Ore., to 90 at Phoenix, Ariz.

Midwest meeting eyes legislation

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Resolutions supporting sweeping changes in state penal institutions and inmate treatment await action by the Midwest Legislators' Conference of the Council of State Governments.

The conference, in its annual meeting here through Wednesday, reconvenes again today with former U.S. Atty. Gen. William Ruckelshaus scheduled to speak at an evening banquet.

In committee action Monday, the justice and law enforcement group adopted proposed resolutions in support of restoring of full civil rights of released convicts, allowing judges to expunge criminal records in certain cases, expanded prison work release programs, prison ombudsmen, inmate furloughs, and inmate bills of rights.

Motions favoring programs in which convicted criminals can make restitution to their victims were also drawn up. Another resolution would allow transfers of convicts from one state's penal institutions to those in

Israeli navy shells Arabs

By The Associated Press

The Israeli navy shelled three ports in southern Lebanon, sinking more than a score of fishing boats in retaliation for the Palestinian guerrilla raid by sea two weeks ago on Nahariya.

The Israeli military command said it had "numerous indications" that the terrorists were preparing more seaborne attacks. The command said its raid on the ports was intended to "disrupt the preparations and warn against the use of these harbors" by the guerrillas.

Israel said the Monday night attack was "limited in scope," and every attempt was made to avoid injuries to civilians. The Lebanese government reported one casualty, a civilian wounded by an explosion in Sidon.

The Lebanese defense ministry reported 21 fishing boats sunk: 10 at Tyre, 10 at Sarafand and one at Sidon. An Israeli spokesman claimed about 30 sunk, or about 10 in each port.

Sidon, the northernmost target, is 30 miles south of Beirut. Tyre is 20 miles farther south, and Sarafand is midway between.

The Palestine guerrilla headquarters in Beirut said Israeli frogmen blew up wooden jetties at Tyre, but the Israeli announcements made no mention of this.

The Israelis said the attack was made by a flotilla of gunboats but did not say how many. The Lebanese defense ministry said Israeli helicopters also dropped leaflets warning the population against cooperating with the Palestinian guerrillas.

"We are warning you," the leaflets said. "You have the choice between peace or trouble We know that they are planning additional operations from your harbors. It is up to you."

Lebanon said its coastal artillery returned the Israeli fire and drove the gunboats back. The Palestinians said guerrillas cooperated with the Lebanese army in driving off the raiders.

material will have a bearing on whether the President is impeached.

"The special prosecutor is drawing the court into those (impeachment) proceedings inevitably and inexorably," he said.

"Well, how far does your point go?" asked Stewart. "Let's assume that a murder took place on the streets of Washington of which the President happened to be one of the very few eyewitnesses ... Would you say he cannot be subpoenaed now, because there is an impeachment inquiry going on and the courts absolutely have to stop dead in their tracks?"

St. Clair replied that he believed the President could not be subpoenaed, but his evidence could be submitted in written form.

The full session was witnessed by 120 spectators from the general public, some of whom had waited outside for as long as 48 hours, while some 780 other spectators were allowed into the historic proceedings on a rotating basis, for five minutes at a time.

Occupying the rest of the courtroom seats were reporters, lawyers, congressmen and court personnel.

Dismiss midshipmen in cheating probe

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — The U.S. Naval Academy announced today that it has dismissed seven midshipmen for cheating on a navigations examination last May.

Vice Adm. William P. Mack, academy superintendent, said an additional 13 midshipmen were placed on honor probation following a lengthy examination into the cheating incident.

another state, if the convict's chances for rehabilitation would be enhanced. The agriculture committee prepared a resolution backing states' rights to set speed limits above 55 miles per hour, "where appropriate."

A two-year freeze on further abandonment of railroad rights-of-way was supported by the transportation and commerce committee.

Indiana Gov. Otis R. Bowen told the conference earlier Monday that he is becoming weary of federal meddling in state programs. "Our state agencies have a better grasp of the implementation and impact of federal programs than do many of the proponent agencies," the governor said.

The 270 delegates attending the conference through Wednesday represent legislatures of North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Minnesota, Iowa, Illinois, Wisconsin, Missouri, Ohio, Michigan and Indiana.

difficulty obtaining the new nozzles needed to pump the unleaded gasoline, or new tanks and pipes.

"There's no problem now, but unless this is corrected by the time the 1975 cars come out it could be," Grindle said.

Regular sized nozzles will not fit the gas pipes of the 1975 cars.

Only a few independent dealers are reported having trouble getting the unleaded gasoline, Neuhaus said.

But he doesn't believe it will be a major problem because of a Federal Energy Administration regulation requiring equitable allocation of unleaded fuel among stations voluntarily wanting to sell it.

The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio said the state does not anticipate a shortage of lead-free fuel.

Stations that failed to meet the July 1 deadline can apply for a 60-day extension, Neuhaus said. But, so far, the EPA has received only two applications, he added.

Stations failing to comply within 60 days could face a $10,000-a-day fine, Neuhaus said.

The EPA has ordered that all stations pumping more than 200,000 gallons of gas a year must sell the unleaded gasoline for 1975 model cars equipped with catalytic converter pollution control devices.

Mitchell

didn't do it," said Rep. Charles Rangel, D.N.Y.

Rep. Robert McClory, R-Ill., a senior committee Republican, agreed. "I don't think it became any clearer as a result of his testimony," McClory said.

He expressed impatience with the time the committee has taken with St. Clair's first two witnesses, LaRue and Paul O'Brien, a former lawyer for the campaign organization who told Dean that Hunt was demanding money.

In calling Mitchell, St. Clair hopes to weaken a link in the chain of evidence fashioned by the Watergate grand jury when it named Nixon an unindicted coconspirator in the cover-up.

Among the March 21 events that led it to indict Mitchell and six other White House aides, including Nixon's former chief of staff H. R. Haldeman, the jury cited a telephone call from Haldeman to Mitchell immediately after the presidential conversation in which Nixon discussed the payment to Hunt.

The call is tied by the jury to Mitchell's later telephone conversation with LaRue approving the payment, and to the delivery of the money by LaRue to Bittman that night.

In his letter to the committee saying why he wants Mitchell called, St. Clair said the purpose of Haldeman's phone call was to invite Mitchell to a meeting in Washington the next day.

Big surplus

got down to specific proposals.

Rep. Fred N. Young, R-38 Dayton, said "education continues to be the No. 1 priority of Republicans," but neither he nor the other GOP members, Sen. Howard C. Cook, R-1 Toledo, and Sen. Max H. Dennis, R-10 Wilmington, would go further.

Cook hinted that Republicans will insist on a major provision in the bill passed by the GOP-controlled Senate last month that provides about $37 million in tax relief. Gilligan and the Democratic conferees said they would not support tax relief at a time when the economy is "uncertain."

Shoemaker was optimistic, however, and said "I think we can get together, but it's going to take about a week of real hard negotiations." The chairman all but ruled out a full session of the legislature this week, as had been mentioned, but said he thinks it is possible one will be held "sometime this month."

Dennis said after the brief meeting that another reason he was not ready to "get down to business" was the absence of Gilligan's two top financial officers—Budget & Management Director John B. Olsen and Robert J. Kosydar, state tax commissioner.

He wanted to get their assurances, Dennis said, "that it will be safe for the legislature to appropriate this extra $80.5 million—to make sure the state is going to be able to afford it."

Shoemaker said it will be "no problem" to get the two officials to attend the next meeting. Olsen was represented at the Monday night meeting by Robert Barrow, an Olsen aide.

Plumbers case agencies such as the FBI "either would not or could not do."

Ehrlichman said he believed Hunt and Liddy might obtain the Ellsberg information from Fielding, possibly by direct request, although Ehrlichman said that at the time he didn't know Fielding's name or whether he even had an office.

Another possibility, Ehrlichman said, was that as trained investigators Hunt and Liddy might have gone to the Rand Corp., a government-financed research organization in California where Ellsberg worked.

But basically, Ehrlichman testified, "It really did not enter my thought process as to what means they would employ."

In early August 1971, when a codirector of the plumbers, Egil "Bud" Krogh, proposed a special White House investigation of Ellsberg, Ehrlichman said:

"I expressed misgivings about the policy and appearance of people from the White House being out as investigators."

There has been testimony in the trial that Ehrlichman called the CIA in July 1971 to arrange support for CIA veteran Hunt, that he ordered special White House counsel Charles W. Colson to raise $5,000 which went to finance the break-in and that he okayed the Ellsberg burglary just four days before it was carried off.

He testified Monday he had no recall of any of those events.

Court rejects case decision

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — A federal appeals court ruled today that the failure of five Greater Cleveland suburbs to build low-income housing does not prove they were guilty of racial discrimination.

The 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, in a split 2-1 ruling, found that the municipalities of Euclid, Garfield Heights, Parma, Solon and Westlake were within the scope of the federal Housing Act in not constructing low-rent units.

Today's ruling overturns an earlier decision by Judge Frank Battisti, chief justice of the U.S. District Court in Cleveland.

LADS AND LASSIES 4-H

The meeting of the Livestock Lads and Lassies was called to order by Keith Holbrook. Doug Joseph led the pledges and the health and safety reports on "Insect Pests" and "Asphyxiation" were presented by Pam Highfield, and Greg Bentley made the motions to adjourn the business meeting.

During the rest of the meeting, questions were answered about 4-H projects books and the Fair. Refreshments were served by Keith Holbrook. The next meeting, July 16, will be a tour to see each member's projects. Everyone is to meet at Chaffin School.

Young mayor reports surplus after inheriting city deficit

MINCO, Okla. (AP) — At a time when most cities are short of funds, Minco's 23-year-old mayor has come up with a budget surplus while expanding city services.

When Mayor James Richard Branum was elected in May 1973, he inherited a $90,000 budget, a $5,934 deficit and plenty of problems.

The budget represented all of the revenue the city expected to generate for fiscal 1973-74. But Branum collected $96,000 and wound up with $26,121 left over.

Branum, a tall curly-haired law student at the University of Oklahoma, says a great deal of credit must go to the city's residents.

"We only have 1,000 to 1,500 people in Minco and we've got 91 people involved in government. Only 10 of those are employed and only four are fulltime employees," he said.

But residents said a lot of the credit has to go to Branum, since most of those now working in government weren't active until he took over. All questioned said they liked the young mayor.

Branum said his age has been no problem because he was born and raised in the town. A stint as a municipal judge—the state's youngest—helped people get used to the idea of a young official, he added.

Branum said some additional revenue came when he discovered that 260 of 550 customers on the city water line were paying minimal bills because their water meters weren't working. As of last weekend, revenues from water meters accounted for 45 per cent of the increase in city collections. Other savings from his administration include:

—Some $4,800 in water deposits was discovered sitting idle in a checking account. All but $400 was transferred to an interest-bearing account and the result was an increase of $200 a year in city income.

—A check of old records revealed $6,200 was owed to Minco by the federal government from a water supply project.

—An unspecified sum was saved by reusing road building materials to repair holes in city streets.

Branum, whose undergraduate degree was in business, says services also are expanded.

Minco has bought its first police car and is getting ready to expand its police protection from eight hours a day to 18.

Branum, Oklahoma's youngest mayor, said his year of hard work appears to be paying off. Unlike many small towns, Minco is growing at the rate of three or four new houses per month.

"Things are really picking up," Branum says. "It seems slow to me but people who have been around for 50 years say they can see an abrupt change."

A $25-million convention center under construction in Kansas City will more than double the city's current $30-million annual convention business volume by 1976, says Mayor Charles Wheeler.

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT

AP Television Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — "The Japanese Film" series seems one of the more improbable survivors of the recently-concluded program "auction" the Public Broadcasting Service held for the nation's public TV system.

After all, who'd think many U.S. viewers would tune in for Japanese movie classics that range from what is called "a chilling Samurai morality tale" to a "striking parable" about modern Japanese society?

The managements of at least 80 per cent of America's public TV stations, that's who.

Ohio sales increases during year

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Cash registers have been ringing up bigger and better sales totals in Ohio for the first five months of 1974, reports the Ohio State University Center for Business and Economic Research.

Sales increases for the year-to-date were 8 per cent ahead of the same period last year and a whopping 11 per cent up in May from the same month in 1973.

Researchers found the month-to-month trend climbed even higher, increasing a sharp 3 per cent above sales figures for April, seasonally adjusted.

Only two of 25 business lines and only two city-county areas in Ohio showed decreases in the May-to-May cash register comparisons.

Automobile dealers sales slacked off 12 per cent and other automotive retailers showed a 20 per cent drop off in receipts.

Regionally, all major city-county areas except Akron and Youngstown showed increases in business volume. They recorded declines, respectively, of 1 and 2 per cent.

Increases ranged as high as 11 per cent in May for Hamilton-Middletown and up to 21 per cent on the year-to-year comparison for Chillicothe-Ross areas.

They were willing to include the series in the 26 they've agreed to help finance—93 were up for grabs—next season under PBS' new "station program cooperative" plan.

Admittedly, the deal was sweetened by the fact the bulk of the show's cost was underwritten by a $448,000 grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities.

But what else might account for the stations' interest in 13 English subtitled movies that last two to three hours and are nowhere as well-known in the U.S. as, say, "Easy Rider" or "Citizen Kane"?

The probable answer, says the series' internationally known host, Dr. Edwin O. Reischauer, is simply that "there's a growing awareness in many parts of the country to the importance of Japan as a whole."

"There's also a certain awareness here of the quality of the Japanese film medium. They (Japanese films) do have a very high reputation, particularly with young people in America, in the colleges."

"And I think the idea of 'The Japanese Film' is extraordinarily interesting," aid Reischauer, U.S. Ambassador to Japan from 1961 to 1966 and now a Harvard professor.

The series, scheduled to begin in November, was produced by public TV station KQED in San Francisco in association with the Pacific Film Archive of the University of California at Berkeley.

Spock happy with youngsters

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Dr. Benjamin Spock says he grew up "afraid of parents, teachers, barking dogs and ballies" and is glad to see the current crop of youngsters can't be intimidated.

The famous baby doctor said today's parents have learned that love is more important than punishment in creating good character.

"Children by themselves want to grow up to be like their parents," he said in an interview. "Parents learned to have trust in their children and they didn't have to intimidate them."

Opinion And Comment

Lore of the snore

Did Romeo snore? Did Juliet? Disillusioning as the thought may be, this is quite possible - though it would have become more likely in later years had the ill-fated lovers not died so young. It seems that in middle age the frequency of snoring increases, in part because throat and mouth tissues begin to become flabby around the age of 35 or 40.

Still, snoring is not confined to those past the flush of youth; it is common among children up to age 10. Men, we are told, have a greater tendency than women to disturb the nocturnal welkin with such trumpeting. Historians, perhaps moved by a sense of delicacy, describe more men than women as famous snorers. These include Winston Churchill, Plutarch, Beau Brummel, Mussolini, Lord Chesterfield, King George II and IV.

Not to mention a number of American presidents. Theodore Roosevelt was most notable in this category; he "once snored so loudly in a hospital," writes Dr. Marcus H. Boulware, "that complaints were filed by almost every patient in the wing where he was recuperating."

Our chief source for the lore of snoring in Boulware's new book, "Snoring." It is full of information and comment about this noisy affliction. Also of descriptions and drawings of anti-snoring devices, none of which the author recommends with marked enthusiasm.

Not that help is beyond reach. Dr. Boulware quotes the findings of a British otolaryngologist to the effect that about 50 per cent of cases are curable and 30 per cent respond to palliative measures. As for the other 20 per cent, they - and above all their spouses - have little recourse.

Unless they are willing to adopt Boulware's trick of "threshold sleeping," of which he says: "If you snore, you wake yourself up. The only problem is, you're very tired the next morning."

WASHINGTON CALLING ... by Marquis Childs

Jackson: Ready, aim, fire

WASHINGTON — Whatever may come out of the Moscow summit, the chances are about 99.9 per cent that Sen. Henry M. "Scoop" Jackson will try to shoot it down.

Given the present mood of distrust, Watergate, isolationism and general disillusion, the chances are nearly as good that he will succeed.

With his eye fixed on 1976 and the presidency you can never fault Scoop for lack of stamina and drive.

Having been furnished an Air Force plane he is spending the July 4 Congressional recess in Peking accompanied by professional China watchers. His conviction that the Russians are deceivers bent on doing in the United States and China at one and the same time will be cheerfully underwritten by his hosts.

of the negotiation in Moscow. Moreover, a public assurance must also be given that harassment of Jews seeking to leave will end.

This is, of course, obviously impossible for either side in the negotiation. Kissinger has said that the United States cannot dictate a change in the internal system of the Soviet Union. He argues that by a relaxation of tensions, the plight of the Jews will ease and increasing numbers will be granted the coveted exit visa.

Recently the figure of 45,000 a year was reported as tentatively agreed upon. In 1973, 35,000 left for Israel with a small number coming to the United States.

Jackson feels, according to his counselor on foreign and domestic policy, Richard N. Perle, that 45,000 is far from adequate. He puts the total number of Jews in the Soviet Union at 2,500,000 half of whom, by his estimate, would like to leave. Also, Volga Germans want to emigrate to Germany and Ukrainians to Canada and should be counted in with the Jewish emigrants.

THIS IS a demand for a radical change in the closed Soviet system. However abhorrent that system is, as testified to by generations of the oppressed, it will not be transformed by dictation from Washington. On the contrary, if the present attempt to ease tensions and abate the nuclear arms race fails, the jailers will double the locks and the plight of the Jews will worsen.

In the general chorus of gloom and don't-trust-anybody, W. Averell Harriman has raised a plan for reason and sanity. Having recently spent three hours with Leonid Brezhnev during a Moscow visit, Harriman is convinced that the Communist Party chairman wants to reach an agreement on arms limitation, emigration and many other areas.

Harriman can never be counted a pushover for Moscow. Ending his wartime tour of duty as ambassador to the Soviet Union, he was first to warn of Stalin's imperial drive and ruthless cruelty. During his long and varied career in government and diplomacy he earned his reputation as the crocodile.

A loyal Democrat actively concerned with his party's future he is nevertheless asking that the Nixon-Kissinger overture be given an opportunity to work. Failure could mean a last chance gone.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 10

ARIES (March 21 to April 20)
Not everything will please you, but the real go-getter (and that's YOU) is always searching for a better way — and better results. Just do not overlook the advantages that ARE about.

TAURUS (April 21 to May 21)
Is it time for a review? Be honest with yourself as you mentally go over situations. Be sure that all tactics are sound and failure-proof.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21)
An above-average day in certain areas; possibly trying in others. Don't do half a job or get half of a story. In discussions, listen to ALL — carefully.

CANCER (July 22 to July 23)
Gauge everything accurately; be quick to perceive erroneous information. Some "tricky" spots indicated. Make decisions to act in a well-balanced, foresighted manner.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23)
Especially favored now: teachers, students, homemakers. In all conferences, negotiations, discuss matters quietly, dispassionately. Curb emotions.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)
Laborious efforts and tedious tasks can both be profitable — no matter how trying they may seem at the moment. Returns may not be immediate, however.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)
Be careful not to say that which you may later regret; not to guess, then act upon that guess, without making sure. These are tendencies now.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)
Stress logic and reason. Do not rely on hunches or another's say-so. Seek more knowledge of your subject: Your capacity for learning is infinite.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)
You may be up against some unusual competition in your field, so keep alert. With your fine intelligence, you should find ways to outrun the best.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)
Two admonitions for this day: Avoid impetuosity and don't drop a project which, even though slow-moving, is essentially productive, in favor of one whose outcome is dubious.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)
Some new suggestions or propositions may be offered. Study each carefully and accept or reject on the basis of enduring worth — not immediate returns.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20)
A few "surprises" indicated — some which will please, others which may not. Take the bad with the good: Things will work out in the long run.

YOU BORN TODAY are conservative, idealistic and extremely practical in carrying out the constructive ideas which are uniquely your own. You have a keen sense of justice, an urge for reform and a gift for oratory. These are powerful traits and, properly developed, can make you the community stalwart you were meant to be. You are highly principled and expect others to be likewise; become completely disillusioned when they aren't. Fields which would be excellent outlets for your talents: Writing, teaching, the law, science, medicine and lecturing. Traits to conquer: Obstinance, jealousy, hypersensitivity.

Ohio Perspective

Faster action seen on unclaimed autos

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio law enforcement officers will be able to cut time and paperwork involved in the removal of abandoned motor vehicles by about 50 per cent under a new law that took effect today.

Rep. Ronald H. Weyandt, D-43 Akron, a former sheriff's deputy, sponsored the bill in the General Assembly, particularly aiming at the problems repair garage and storage lot owners.

Before today they had to get title to any vehicle left unclaimed for 60 days or longer in order to remove the vehicle. And, the vehicle had to be worth $200 or less even then. Garage and lot owners also had to give notice in advance to owners or lienholders.

Weyandt's bill permits sheriffs or chiefs of police to dispose of unclaimed motor vehicles without obtaining title to them — if they're left with a garage or storage lot owner longer than the period agreed to by the owners.

Notification to the owner or lienholder still is required, but the officer now can execute an affidavit instead of going through the paperwork necessary to acquire title.

Two copies of the affidavit are to be given to the owner of the garage or lot, who then can obtain a clear title by presenting them to the clerk of courts.

The bill left intact the old law with regard to the disposal of abandoned junk vehicles, which are defined in the code as those valued at $100 or less.

The sheriff or police chief can turn them over to a junk dealer after photographing the vehicle where it was abandoned and completing a brief description for the records which have to be maintained for a period of two years.

Abandoned junk vehicles are further defined in the statutes as those left on public property for 48 hours or on private property 72 hours, without notification of proper authorities.

A Legislative Service Commission analysis of Weyandt's bill said, "Testimony presented during hearings indicated that procedures authorized by the bill could reduce the amount of time necessary to get rid of an unclaimed vehicle by 50 per cent."

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Stay out of the tender trap

DEAR ABBY: Perhaps mine is a unique problem, yet I think not. My wife complains constantly that I never do anything around the house. She says: "The people next door work together, painting, gardening, etc. and their place looks great. You never do a thing around here, and our place looks like a dump. All you want to do is play golf or bring home extra work from the office." And she is right.

The reason I never do anything around the house is this: I once brought some paint home to paint a room, and she criticized the color. I started to work in the yard and she said: "Quit that—you are making a mess!" Frankly, no matter what I do she finds fault with it. The golf course is pleasant and quiet. And when I'm doing work I bring home from the office, at least she doesn't yell at me.

I have complimented her on her cooking, the way she looks, her housekeeping, and everything I can think of, but she never says: "Thanks."

I doubt if this could be of any help to me if it were printed. However, there must be other readers who could improve their family relations immensely by just learning to express a little warm, sincere appreciation. Thanks.

A GOLF WIDOW'S GOLFER

DEAR GOLFER: I score your advice a birdie after a good recovery from a common marital trap!

DEAR ABBY: Am I being unreasonable? My husband's part collie dog is 19 years old. He is deaf, and nearly blind, can hardly use his back legs, and has lost control of his bowels. I have to clean up after him all the time. He whines, cries and barks during the night and I have to get up and let him out.

My husband is a sound sleeper and nothing disturbs him. I have begged him to take this dog to the vet to be put to sleep, but he says: "No! I suppose when I get sick you will want to put ME to sleep, too."

Abby, this is my second marriage and I want it to last, but I have had it with this dog of his.

I know if the dog could talk, he would beg to be put out of his misery. Please advise me.

DOG TIED

DEAR TIED: I'm with you. It's cruel to let the animal suffer. If your husband insists that you're wrong, get the vet's opinion. I'll bet he votes with us.

DEAR ABBY: I was recently married. My husband and I invited 200 people to our wedding reception; 140 said they were coming, so we put all the money we had into this wedding reception. Only 55 showed up. After the reception, my husband and I went to a local bar for a drink. About 30 of the people who accepted but didn't show up were at this bar. They gave us some money (with no cards) as a "wedding gift." We took it because we were so broke.

I think we should write thank-you notes to the people who handed us the money, go to the bar, and hand them the thank-you notes just like they handed us the money. My husband thinks if we do this, we will be as ignorant as they are. I think we are being nicer to them than they deserve by thanking them at all.

What do you think?

DEAR HURT: Since you weren't sufficiently "hurt" to refuse their gifts, you should acknowledge them properly in writing, and through the mail.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "M" WHO WORKS IN AN OFFICE WITH PAT: I think that whatever an adult does in his own home is his own business.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Tuesday, July 9, the 190th day of 1974. There are 175 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1816, Argentina declared independence from Spain.

On this date: In 1776, General George Washington summoned his troops in New York and had the Declaration of Independence read to them.

In 1850, President Zachary Taylor died at the White House — after serving only one year and four months of his term.

In 1940, during World War II, the Duke of Windsor was appointed governor of the Bahamas.

In 1947, the engagement of Britain's Queen Elizabeth and Lieutenant Philip Mountbatten was announced.

In 1960, the Soviets threatened the United States with missiles if any attempt were made to oust the Castro government in Cuba.

Ten years ago: The New Orleans cotton exchange closed after 93 years of operation.

Five years ago: U.S. Astronaut Frank Borman met with Soviet President Podgorny at the Kremlin, climaxing a weeklong tour of the Soviet Union.

One year ago: Clarence Kelley was sworn in as director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Today's birthdays: King Hassan II of Morocco is 45. U.S. NATO Representative Donald Rumsfeld is 42.

Thought for today: One may live as a conqueror, king or a magistrate, but he must die as a man.—Daniel Webster, American lawyer and statesman, 1782-1852.

New rail devices to be tested here

COLUMBUS — Fayette County has been selected as a test location in conjunction with a national experiment that should lead to new and more effective railroad-highway crossing warning devices, according to J. Phillip Richley, director of the Ohio Department of Transportation.

The test is the result of meetings between 25 states, including Ohio, and the Federal Highway Administration. It is being conducted to reduce the number of car-train crashes that occur across the country, usually at poorly-marked rural crossings.

STATISTICS indicate that a car-train crash is 40 times more likely to result in serious injury or death than any other type of vehicular accident. In Ohio, an average of 97 persons lose their lives in train-vehicle crashes each year.

Traffic engineers have been concerned about the adequacy of the present standard signing and painting at the rural train crossings. There is evidence to indicate that in many cases motorists are approaching the crossings with insufficient warning, resulting in accidents that could be preventable.

The national tests will determine the effectiveness of at least 12 different types of signs and various other ways to paint and sign the crossings.

Highly complex test vehicles will measure, through electronic sensors in the roadway, the reactions of the motorists resulting from the different types of signs. In each test location, the area will first be signed and painted in compliance with the present crossing standards. The test vehicles will then check the reactions of the motorists using the crossing. Then, after a period of time, the new signs and painted stripping will be installed at the location.

The test vehicle will then return to the area and again measure the motorist reactions. The difference in the reactions should be a direct result of manner in which the crossing is signed.

There will be five test locations in Ohio. All are located in more rural areas of the state, where the engineers believe the same people will be using the crossing.

The project includes test locations in two counties in southern Ohio. Three of the locations are in Fayette County. Two are in Highland County.

THE LOCATIONS in Fayette County are on Ohio 753, just north of Greenfield, Ohio 753, just south of Washington C.H., and Ohio 729 in Milledgeville. The crossings on Ohio 753 are over tracks owned by the Detroit, Toledo and Ironton Railroad Co., while the one on Ohio 729 spans the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Co. tracks.

Both Highland County locations span N & W tracks. One crossing is located at Mowrystown on Ohio 321, the other is southwest of Hillsboro on Ohio 138.

To participate in the actual testing program, the Ohio Department of Transportation had to request a rewording of state law. The Ohio Revised Code listed the signing that was required at each railroad-highway crossing. A new law reworded the signing requirements to allow the testing to take place. The new law is also worded so that should a new form of marking be indicated from the tests, installation can take place without the necessity of changing the law again, Richley said.

Bid opening date set for railroad project

COLUMBUS—Ohio Department of Transportation director J. Phillip Richley reports a July 30 bid opening date for a railroad crossing protection program project in Fayette, Franklin, Madison and Pickaway counties. The program is funded by gasoline taxes in accordance with House Bill No. 111.

Plans cover improved protection for 340 at-grade railroad crossings on state, county and township routes and on city and villages streets and alleys in the four counties.

Total programmed estimate for the safety improvement, applying advance warning pavement and no-passing center lines on 699 crossing approaches and erecting 491 advance warning signs, is $112,000.

The Highway Division will furnish the paint, glass beads and signs. All other materials including sign supports, bearing plates and necessary hardware will be contractor furnished.

Traffic will be maintained. The date set for completion of pavement marking and center line stripe application is Oct. 31 with all sign erection to be completed by March 1, 1975.

Couple found dead in cottage

NORTH BAY, Ont. (AP) — A Cleveland, Ohio, couple, Joseph Harwood, 68, and his wife Anne, 67, were found dead in a cottage near here Monday, police reported.

Their two grandchildren, Mark MacGuire, 10, and his brother Brian, 8, also of Cleveland, were found unconscious in the cottage in the Still River area. They were rushed to a hospital where they were reported in critical condition, police said.

The cause of the deaths was not immediately known.

Course attendant charged in slaying

MEDINA, Ohio (AP) — A golf course attendant was charged Monday with negligent homicide in the shooting death of a high school teacher diving for golf balls in a course water hazard, police said.

Donald Davis of Burbank was released on $100 bond.

Davis told police he thought he was firing at a muskrat which damages golf courses when he shot Daniel Zacharchenke of Medina.

Ferguson explains lottery, income tax to Kiwanis Club

The deputy state auditor addressed members of the Washington C.H. Kiwanis Club following their regular weekly dinner meeting in the Lafayette Inn Monday night.

Thomas Ferguson, son of Joseph Ferguson, state auditor, discussed his duties as deputy auditor. He is a candidate for his father's post on the November ballot.

He explained that there are some 7,000 political subdivisions in Ohio and that each is audited periodically. Three of the accounts which receive audits are the state income tax, welfare accounts and the new state lottery.

The income tax figure in 1973 totaled $411 million, Ferguson said. He reported that Fayette County paid a total of $653,806 and received a return of $1,654,000, all but a very small part of which was for schools.

WELFARE MONEY paid during 1973 totaled $34 million, a large portion of which is funded through the federal government. He said that two-thirds of this amount was funneled into the six most populous counties.

Target date for the beginning of Ohio's new money-maker, the lottery, is Aug. 12. Ticket will be 50 cents each, and the state will keep 55 per cent of the income from the sales, after five per cent has been deducted by the ticket sellers.

The state will pay to winners the other 45 per cent of the lottery money. Fifteen per cent will be used for the administration of the program and the remaining 40 per cent is the state's "profit."

According to the state's estimate of the income from the lottery it will take approximately 12 years of this revenue to cover the cost of Vietnam bonuses for servicemen. After that has been completed, the money will be available for the general fund.

Following the presentation, there was a lengthy question and answer period.

President George Gibbs, who recently returned from the Kiwanis International Convention in Denver, Colo., announced that several amendments to the organization's constitution were approved.

Charles Wagner presented Dick Maddux with a pin, marking 12 years of perfect attendance at Kiwanis Club meetings.

Fight mars school board meeting

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Television cameras whirled and a stunned audience watched as a guest speaker dashed over to a Cincinnati Board of Education member and began punching him Monday night.

It was another in a series of stormy sessions for the board—but it was the first time heated words had erupted into violence.

Board member Robert S. Brown was struck in the face. He later filed charges against Irwin Frieman, executive secretary of the League of Hamilton County Property and Homeowners Association, Inc.

Frieman had just asked the board to vote down a proposed tax levy. Brown questioned several points in Frieman's attack on the proposed levy, and the altercation broke out.

Witness among the crowd of 60 said Brown did not fight back, but put up his hands in defense.

Frieman was led out of the meeting. The board meeting continued, with a vote to postpone action on the levy until July 31.

MR. and MRS. THOMAS L. BALTES

Couple reside in Dayton following Mexico honeymoon

Miss Deborah L. Whittington, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Whittington, 917 Clinton Ave., became the bride of Thomas L. Baltès of Dayton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Baltès of Versailles. The Rev. Mark Dove and the Rev. Dr. William Dormann performed the double ring ceremony in the sanctuary of Grace United Methodist Church.

Miss Sandy Rhoades, vocalist, and Mrs. Wayne Spengler, organist, presented a prelude of wedding selections. Miss Rhoades sang the Wedding Song, One Hand, One Heart, and I Come to You preceding the ceremony, and Whither Thou Goest I Will Go during the ceremony.

Two pedestal baskets of white gladioli and carnations enhanced the altar, with candelabra. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal length Nottingham lace over sea green chiffon, with scoop neckline, empire waist, and long fitted capped sleeves which came to points over the wrists. Her hat of Nottingham lace held the chiffon floor-length veil, and she carried a cascade of white orchids, baby's breath and stephanotis.

Mrs. Richard Cockerill of Columbus, sister of the bride, was the matron of honor. She wore a formal length sea green and apricot print jersey gown with long capped sleeves and scoop neckline trimmed in apricot lace. Miss Jodie Whittington and Miss Barbara Whittington, both sisters of the bride, were the bridesmaids. They were dressed in gowns identical to that of the matron of honor. Each carried long-stemmed apricot carnations and white daisies.

Mrs. Whittington chose for her daughter's wedding a formal length pale apricot print knit, and the groom's mother wore a formal length apricot gown. They, along with the grandmothers, wore white carnation corsages.

Carl Baltès of St. Henry served as best man for his brother. Two other brothers, Ivan Baltès of Versailles, and Ron Baltès, of California, seated the wedding guests.

Hostesses for the reception which followed in the Mahan Building were Miss Shirley Harper of Jamestown, aunt of the bride, Miss Diane Batles of Versailles, sister of the groom, and Mrs. Edmund Stanczak of Vandalia. Mrs. Craig McGlinch of Greenville presided at the guestbook.

Following a trip to Mexico, they are now residing in Dayton.

The new Mrs. Baltès, a graduate of business school, is employed as a secretary for the Peerless Companies. Her husband, a graduate of an electronic school and now attending Sinclair College, is employed by United Systems Corporation as an electronics technician.

Home Builders hold meeting

The Home Builders Class of Madison Mills United Methodist Church met in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Benner, when Mrs. Lester Haines, president opened the meeting with "America the Beautiful."

Mrs. Grace Allemang presented devotions by reading Psalm 111, followed with group singing of "Faith of Our Fathers" and all said the Lord's Prayer. Mrs. Allemang read "For one of the Chief Troubles of Our Time" and "I'm Fine for the Shape I'm In."

A brief business session was conducted and it was announced that the August meeting will be held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hays. The Rev. Harold Messmer offered prayer for the closing.

Mr. Gleen Hidy, auctioneer, auctioned the fresh garden vegetables, fruits and baked foods, which netted a good sum for the class treasury.

A social hour followed and the hosts assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Campbell served refreshments to the Rev. and Mrs. Harold J. Messmer, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hays, Mrs. Cecil Dawson, Mrs. Ethel Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Hidy, Mrs. Blodwen Melvin, Mrs. Grace Allemang, Mr. and Mrs. Leland Dorn, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight King, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Barrett and Mr. and Mrs. Haines.

NEIGHBORLY SUPPER
Tuna Spinach Loaf with Cheese Sauce
Baked Potatoes Salad
Fruit Turnovers

TUNA SPINACH LOAF
Good change from meat.
Three 6½- or 7-ounce cans tuna in vegetable oil
2 cups soft fresh bread crumbs
½ cup milk
2 eggs, slightly beaten
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1 small onion, finely grated (pulp and juice)
¼ teaspoon pepper
10-ounce package frozen chopped spinach, thawed and well drained
Drain tuna; turn into a large mixing bowl and with a fork flake finely. Add remaining ingredients; mix well and let stand until bread absorbs most of liquid — about 5 minutes. Grease bottom and sides of a 1½-quart glass loaf dish (8½ by 4½ by 2½ inches) or similar utensil; line bottom with foil having it come up about ½-inch on long sides; grease foil. Turn tuna mixture into dish. Bake in a preheated 375-degree oven until center is firm — about 45 minutes. Turn out; remove foil. Serve at once with Cheese Sauce. Makes 8 servings.

Refrigerated leftover egg yolks and whites should be used within two to four days.

Miss Thomas attended Miami Trace High School and is now employed at The New Craig's. Her fiance, a 1972 graduate of MTHS, is employed by Mac Tools Inc.

A winter wedding is being planned by the couple.

MISS JULIE J. THOMPSON

Local GAR wins awards

Mrs. Daisy Gossard and Mrs. Ralph Hays were co-hostesses when the Ladies of the Grand Army of the Republic, met in the former's home. A patriotic theme was carried out in the appointments.

Mrs. Herbert Hoppes presided and called the meeting to order in ritualistic form. Miss Florence Purcell presented devotions. In the absence of Mrs. Lawrence Black, Mrs. Minnie Smith was patriotic instructor. She led the Pledge of the flag, the Articles of Faith and the American's Creed.

Mrs. Nona Stevens presented a report on the Alliance Convention. Mrs. Stevens was also appointed state chaplain for another year. She brought back the cash award won by the group at the convention for having placed the most flags this past year into schools and with other organizations. The local GAR also won an award for having the most bazaar items at the convention, which sold to help defray officers expenses.

Other reports were made by Mrs. Ralph Child and Mrs. Walter Parrett, who also read correspondence.

Miss Florence Hidy was elected cards and flowers chairman. It was announced that Miss Etha Sturgeon is now residing at 659 Purdue Plaza.

Miss Southward, Mr. Johnson exchange marriage vows daughter of Mrs. Betty Southward of Jeffersonville, and John Southward of Columbus, became the bride of Robert Dale Johnson Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Johnson Sr., Rt. 3. The Rev. Robert Kline performed the double ring ceremony at 6:30 p.m. before an altar graced with two nine-branch and vases of carnations, gladioli and baby's breath. Mr. David Puckett presented a half-hour prelude of wedding music.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dale Johnson Jr., are residing in Springfield, following their wedding June 22 in the Church of Christ in Christian Union.

The bride wore a gown of silk organza over taffeta with empire waist of pearl-studded lace and sheer sleeves which also ended in lace. She carried a cascade arrangement of pink rosebuds and white carnations with baby's breath.

Miss Becky Johnson, maid of honor and sister of the groom, and Miss Theresa Johnson, another sister, was the bridesmaid. Both of the attendants wore gowns of pink with empire waist and matching hats. Each carried a colonial bouquet of pink, blue and white carnations and baby's breath. Mrs. Steve Overly presided at the guest book.

Steve Overly performed the duties as best man. The ushers were Bruce Landrum and Rick Johnson.

The bride's mother wore a formal gown of pink double knit with matching accessories. The groom's mother wore a gown of blue chiffon with which she combined white accessories. Each mother wore a corsage of pink rosebuds with white carnations and baby's breath.

A reception was held in the home of the groom's parents for the couple, when the hostesses were Mrs. Glenn Mathews and Mrs. George Lundberg.

The bride is a graduate of Miami Trace High School. Her husband a 1973 graduate of MTHS, is employed by Cascade Inc. in Springfield.

Picnic held by OES group

A backyard picnic featuring grilled hamburgers were enjoyed by the 1965 group of Matrons and Patrons, Order of Eastern Star of the 23rd District. Mr. and Mrs. Bill Meadows of Kingston were the hosts.

Following the meal, slides taken by the hosts of Germany, Austria and Holland were viewed.

Sharing in the evening's pleasure were Mrs. Jack Lovensheimer and children, Craig, Brian and Lisa of Florence, S.C., who were visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John West of Williamsport; Mr. Denny Kitchen of Adelphi; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Haines of Washington C.H.; and Mr. George Grimes of Chillicothe.

Walns welcome several guests

Prison guards defy union work order

LEBANON, Ohio (AP) — A strike by employees of the Lebanon Correctional Institution continued into a fourth day today with picketing workers defying a union back-to-work order.

About 75 per cent of the prison's 350-member staff joined the wildcat stoppage.

Striking members of the Ohio Civil Service Employees Association voted Monday night to remain out until the Ohio Legislature grants a pay raise for state employees.

The back-to-work order was mailed Monday, according to Karl Stewart, executive secretary of the OCSEA.

Representatives of the strikers attended a joint conference in the Statehouse where a $39 million pay boost for public employees was being discussed.

The workers originally sought a 31-cent hourly wage boost, but several representatives said employees now are holding out for a $1.15 raise.

The strike began Saturday, with OCSEA members joined by Teamsters and the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees.

Lebanon Supt. William Dallman said more than half of the prison's guards are on strike. He said order was being maintained despite the walkout.

OCSEA headquarters in Columbus issued the back-to-work order. Tom Daugherty, director of communications for OCSEA, said last week his group hoped to avert the strike. He said such action would "turn public opinion against us."

What effect the $80.5 million in surplus state funds disclosed Monday by Gov. John Gilligan would have on the issue was not immediately clear.

OU news suit filed

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — The former student editor of the Ohio University Post and two student reporters have been named in a $2.5 million suit filed by university Personnel Director Ward Wilson.

Wilson contends in the suit against former Post editor P.J. Bednarski and reporters Gary Putka and Ezra Goldstein that a story in the student newspaper damaged his professional reputation and impaired his earning capacity.

He claims the story was published with knowledge it was false or with reckless disregard for whether it was true or not.

The story appeared in the Post after last April's three-day strike by student workers and dealt with statements Wilson allegedly made about the backgrounds of some strike leaders.

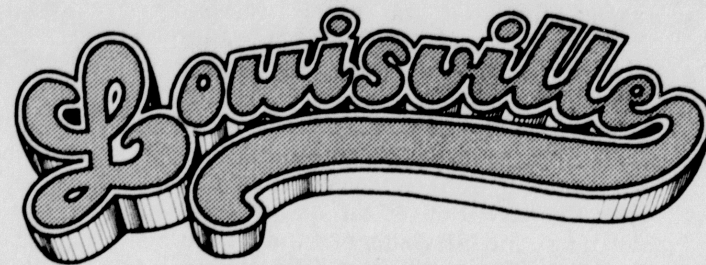

The student newspaper is subsidized by Ohio University, but is editorially independent from the school.

Union Hospital struck in nurses dispute

DOVER, Ohio (AP) — Nurses struck Union Hospital here Monday in a contract dispute over vacation provisions, pay for nurses on call and staffing requirements.

The 90-member unit of the Ohio Nurses Association had given the hospital one-week strike notice, and about half of the patients had been moved to other facilities or sent home.

The association said a few nurses agreed to remain on the job to care for patients too critically ill to be moved.

Church issued permit for new construction

A building permit has been issued to the First Church of God to construct a new sanctuary building on the church property at 610 Harrison St.

The church is constructing an addition to its present building at an estimated cost of $150,000, according to city inspector Glenn Tatman.

The new addition, which measures 140 by 101 feet, will be located just southeast of the present Fellowship Hall. The new sanctuary will have a seating capacity for nearly 250 persons.

Warn areas of pollution

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Sections of central and eastern Ohio today remained under pollution alerts issued by the Ohio Environmental Protection Agency after stagnant air trapped dirty haze over the areas.

The EPA called the alerts Monday for Columbus and Franklin County and for Belmont, Monroe, Harrison and Jefferson counties in eastern Ohio.

Officials said the alerts probably would remain in effect at least until sometime Wednesday, based on the National Weather Service's air stagnation advisory.

Alerts are issued when the air quality index climbs above the 200 level. Under an alert, certain industries are asked to curtail pollution-causing operations.

EPA officials said most of the pollution comes from automobile exhausts and suggested residents of the areas try to limit driving by using mass transportation or car pools.

The present sanctuary, built over 50 years ago, is scheduled for demolition after the new one is completed.

Other building permits issued include:

Fred Pitzer, 157 Carolyn Road, addition at rear of residence, $8,000;

Ohio Methodist Conference, a metal storage building on Gardner Court, $100;

Roy Bailey, 1113 Clemson Plaza, a two-family residence at 1207 Willard St., $20,000;

Wiley Witherspoon, 606 Charlotte Court, enclosed patio, $600;

Everad F. Broberg, 1360 Nelson Place, room addition at rear of residence, $8,000;

Ralph Morris, 405 E. Paint St., garage addition, $300; and Jim Hildreth, 1130 Nelson Place, garage and patio addition, $1,000.

Local man visits Houston Astrodome

By LARRY WATTS
Record-Herald Sports Editor

"It's really hard to describe it. The place was just colossal," replied Willard Everhart. Everhart, the 96 year-old wonder of Washington Court House had just returned from his first visit to the Houston Astrodome, which is also known as the "Eighth Wonder of the World."

His trip to the Astrodome to watch the Reds and Astros was a Father's Day gift from his son-in-law Bob Lewis. Not only was it Everhart's first visit to Houston, but it was also his first trip ever in an airplane. By the time his entire trip was over, Everhart had traveled in five different planes.

"We stayed in the Astroworld Hotel and rode on a bus to the stadium," Everhart stated. "The bus was a doubledecker, which had been brought in from England. That bus must have been at least 25 feet high!"

"In the stadium our seat was right in back of home plate and we could see everything from there. You do not have to worry about missing anything because the scoreboard flashes every play. If a Houston player hits a home run, they have the scoreboard rigged up with fireworks and everything."

"Doggone it, we made the trip to Houston and the Reds lost the game," Everhart reflected. "At least we won the rest of the games in the series."

Everhart said he has been a Reds' fan and a baseball fan for many years. However, he said he really did not have any all-time favorite team or players.

"I have a great admiration for Sparky Anderson, Cincinnati's manager," continued Everhart. "I think he is a well-balanced man and pretty honest. I believe everyone on that team is 100 per cent behind him."

"Cincinnati will catch the Dodgers before the season is over," Everhart predicted confidently. "With guys like Joe Morgan, Johnny Bench, Pete Rose, Dave Concepcion and Tony Perez; I can not see how they can be stopped."

Everhart said he had never been to Riverfront Stadium to see the Reds play. "It's not that I have never had the opportunity, but too much walking bothers me," he replied. "I could probably see the game better on television."

Everhart also noted that baseball has gone through many changes in the past 90 years. "I think my generation has seen the invention of the automobile, the radio, the television and the trip to the moon," he mentioned. "We used to consider people wealthy if they owned a horse and buggy. Why it seems just like yesterday when a train went a mile a minute."

"I remember when the airplane was invented," Everhart continued. "It was my 26th birthday, December 17, 1903."

Everhart also noted the increasing changes in the automobile has caused many teams to change to new stadiums. "More people are coming to the games by automobiles than ever before," he stated. "Comparing the new stadiums with the old parks is like comparing a shopping center to the downtown business district. More people are going to shopping centers because it is easier to find a parking space there than downtown."

"Look at the stadium in Houston," Everhart related. "That place is immense. People, especially the younger ones, should see it."

Stars vote to support strike

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — The organized charities of Chicago could become the first casualty of the war fare between the 26 club owners of the National Football League and their striking veteran players.

The College All-Star Game, played under the auspices of Chicago Tribune Charities, will be canceled as of 4 p.m., EDT, Wednesday, the sponsor vowed Monday, unless the warring sides agree "to allow the game to be played without interference."

The cancellation threat followed the refusal of the All-Stars to practice unless the NFL Management Council, bargaining unit for the owners, and the NFL Players Association resume negotiations.

"No negotiations, no practices; no contract, no game," the All-Stars decided Monday after a 40-minute meeting.

And the executive director of the Chicago Tribune Charities, Luke Carroll, replied: " ... unless an arrangement is worked out within 48 hours to allow the game to be played without interference, we shall be forced reluctantly to cancel."

The All-Star game, with the reigning Super Bowl champion Miami Dolphins scheduled to play the cream of the 1974 rookie crop this year, has been played every year since 1934 with $3.2 million raised and distributed to charity.

Oakland halts Perry's string

By The Associated Press

"It's all over."

The speaker was Gaylord Perry and those three little words told the whole story of Monday night's heartbreaking 4-3 10-inning loss to the Oakland A's after the Cleveland Indians' right-hander came within two outs of tying the American League record of 16 consecutive pitching victories.

Elsewhere, the Baltimore Orioles nipped the California Angels 6-5, the Kansas City Royals blanked the Boston Red Sox 5-0, the Minnesota Twins downed the Detroit Tigers 6-2, the Milwaukee Brewers edged the Chicago White Sox 6-5 in 12 innings and the New York Yankees trounced the Texas Rangers 12-5.

"It's all over."

There wasn't much else a dejected Perry could say. He blew a 3-2 lead with one out in the ninth inning when Joe Rudi tripled and Gene Tenace, who had tagged him for a two-run homer in the second inning, delivered the tying run with a sacrifice fly.

Perry allowed six hits, struck out 13 and walked only two, but one was to pinch hitter Pat Bourque, leading off the 10th. Pinch runner John "Blue Moon" Odom got around to third on a sacrifice and an infield out and designated hitter Claudell Washington, a 19-year-old rookie starting his first major league game, drilled a slider through the left side of the Cleveland infield for a single and the winning run.

It was Perry's second loss and his

Dodgers blank Phillies

By The Associated Press

"My record doesn't indicate how well I've pitched," says the Dodgers' Andy Messersmith, who happens to have a pretty fair record of nine wins, two losses and a 2.12 earned run average.

He'll get no argument from the Philadelphia Phillies, who were handcuffed 4-0 on just three hits Monday night before a national television audience. Messersmith did not allow a base hit until the sixth inning.

"Sure I was thinking of a nohitter," he said. Then he added with a smile, "I was thinking no-hitter in the third inning. I always try to pitch a no-hitter. Let me see ... I've been trying for 17 years, since I pitched one when I was 11 years old."

Elsewhere in the National League, the San Francisco Giants trimmed the Montreal Expos 5-4 in 10 innings, the Atlanta Braves blanked the Pittsburgh Pirates 5-0, the New York Mets edged the San Diego Padres 2-1 and the Houston Astros defeated the St. Louis Cardinals 4-1.

Chicago and Cincinnati were not scheduled.

In his last nine games, Messersmith has allowed just six earned runs for a miniscule 0.74 earned run average. He won five and lost one in that span, and the lone defeat was 1-0 on an unearned run.

Despite his success, Messersmith says he hasn't changed all that much from last season, when he was 14-10 with a 2.70 ERA.

Giants 5, Expos 4

Relief pitcher Randy Moffitt tripled home the winning run in the 10th inning for the Giants after leadoff man Mike Phillips had reached first on an error by Expo second baseman Larry Lintz.

Braves 5, Pirates 0

Atlanta's Max Leon, 1-2, making his first start of the season, blanked Pittsburgh on six hits, and the Braves took advantage of errors by Pittsburgh second baseman Rennie Stennett and left fielder Willie Stargell to score four unearned runs in the fourth inning.

Mets 2, Padres 1

Harry Parker and Bob Miller combined on a six-hitter and the Mets defense came up with three double plays in stopping the Padres.

Astros 4, Cards 1

Doug Rader smashed a two-run homer on an 0-2 count in the fifth inning to help Houston's Tom Griffin post his 10th victory of the season.

first since opening day.

Perry was trying to match the 16-win record set by Walter Johnson and Smoky Joe Wood in 1912 and equaled by Lefty Grove in 1931 and Schoolboy Rowe in 1934.

Orioles 6, Angels 5

Baltimore erupted for five first-inning runs and used Wayne Garland's 4 1-3 innings of hitless relief to send the skidding Angels to their ninth consecutive defeat and eighth under Manager Dick Williams.

Royals 5, Red Sox 0

Steve Busby shut out slumping Boston on three hits and Tony Solaita slammed a three-run double.

Twins 6, Tigers 2

Eric Soderholm's two-run homer highlighted Minnesota's four-run second inning against Woodie Fryman. That was enough for Bert Blyleven, who checked the Tigers on seven hits.

Brewers 6, White Sox 5

Mike Hegan's two-run pinch homer in the 12th inning off reliever Stan Bahnsen lifted the Brewers to victory.

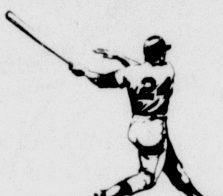

Yankees 12, Rangers 5

Chris Chambliss ripped a three-run double, Bobby Murcer drove in three more with a homer and an infield out and Dick Woodson pitched 5 2-3 shutout innings of relief for New York.

Youth league roundup

Washington Little League

Mustangers clipped the Flashes 7-1 and Levi Boys edged Lumberjacks 5-4 in a see-saw battle in the Washington Little League, Monday evening.

Norman Melvin scattered eight hits, while walking two and striking out six, in registering the win for the Mustangers. Flashes starting pitcher Taylor Gayheart was tagged for five runs in the third frame and two runs in the fourth inning. Gayheart managed to strike out seven batters in four innings.

Despite home runs by Steve Spears and Tom Shields, Lumberjacks came out on the bottom end of the 5-4 decision with Levi Boys. Winning pitcher Charles Wheeler limited Lumberjacks to five hits. Spears was the losing hurler, as he yielded six hits.

In the Minor League play, K of C scored five runs in the first inning and held on for a 9-5 win over Sagar's and County Bank defeated Agric 18-14.

Thirteen walks by two Sagar's pitchers aided K of C's victory. The winners could only manage two hits off of Ken Eddlemmon and Travis Anderson.

Sagar's managed to collect three hits off of Mark Bentley and Tim Redman. However, eight walks caused quite a bit of damage on the scoreboard.

County Bank only had one hit, a home run by Jeff Huysman; but Agric pitchers Scott Stackhouse and Wilson were having troubles with their control. County Bank had 21 players on base because of walks.

Steve Vermillion hurled a three-hitter for the winners. However, his defense made 11 errors to help keep Agric in the game.

Lions Babe Ruth

Shane Riley's double with two runners on base sparked a two-run uprising during the seventh inning of Girtons' 6-4 win over Willis Insurance in the Lions Babe Ruth League, Monday evening. With the victory, Girtons is now 8-2 and Willis drops to a 6-4 league mark.

Four of Girtons' seven hits went for extra bases. Jeff Elliott and Bob Brown also doubled, while Bill Hanners smashed a home run. Heiny and Gary English each went two for three for the losers.

In picking up the victory, Elliott struck out nine and walked one batter. VanDyke, the losing pitcher, struck out 11 batters.

Court House picks Waverly

Washington Court House has drawn Waverly, the only non-south Central Ohio League member, when the American Legion District Tournament opens in Hillsboro on July 20. Waverly, which dropped out of the SCOL just before the tournament began last year, has regrouped and recorded a 5-7 mark on a very tough non-league schedule. Post 25 is presently 6-10 on the season.

Hillsboro and Portsmouth meet in the 10 a.m. opening game of the tourney. The winner of that game will meet winless Greenfield, which drew the bye, in a Sunday game.

In the 1 p.m. contest, Waverly and Court House square off. At 4 p.m., the two Chillicothe teams, Post 757 and Post 62, must travel to Hillsboro to play each other. At 7 p.m., the loser of games two and three will face each other, as the tournament will see its first casualty.

Tournament play will resume with four more games at the same times on Sunday. On Monday and Tuesday, there will be games at 6 p.m. and 8 p.m. There will be one game on Wednesday, if the champion is not determined Tuesday evening.

Sexual battery case dismissed, refiled

A charge of sexual battery, filed against a Washington C.H. man has been dismissed in Municipal Court after preliminary hearing and then filed again under another subsection of the same statute.

The original incident occurred in the pre-dawn hours of June 23. After Zachary H. Brown, 23, of 1209 Willard St., entered a Washington C.H. woman's home and allegedly made advances to her. Brown was charged with sexual battery. The woman initially charged that Brown entered the home, snuggled into bed and began the advances, saying that she had been intoxicated at the time, and was unable to combat the imposed liberties Brown was accused of taking.

During the preliminary hearing, however, the woman testified that she was "stone sober," and Assistant County Prosecutor John H. Roszmann concurred when Brown's attorney, Otis Hess, moved for dismissal of the charge.

Immediately following the dismissal action approved by acting Judge Omar Schwartz, the alleged victim of the assault asked that the charge be refiled, claiming that she submitted to the violation because she was sleepy and believed at the time that the aggressor was her husband.

Brown was released on his own recognizance until a hearing date on the new charge can be scheduled.

Find many armories unguarded

By NICK TATRO
Associated Press Writer

Most National Guard armories have antiburglary systems, but an informal survey shows many are unguarded by humans mainly because officials say security patrols are too costly.

A spot check was made Sunday in the wake of last week's looting of an armory in Compton, Calif., in which the FBI said thieves stole enough sophisticated weaponry to equip more than 150 soldiers for combat.

The break-in at the armory in suburban Los Angeles occurred while the facility was unguarded and before officials could finish installing electronic security devices.

Thieves in recent years have broken into other armories in California and storage facilities in other states, including Pennsylvania, Florida, Massachusetts, Kansas and Oklahoma.

"The Guard just doesn't have enough people to have them sit in an armory all the time," said Lt. Rick Roberts, a Guard spokesman in Philadelphia. He said there haven't been "any robberies, just breaking and entering. Most of it is vandalism—windows being smashed and things like that."

He said the 107 Guard facilities in Pennsylvania are protected by burglar alarms, frequent police patrols and the separation of firing mechanisms and ammunition from stored weapons.

In California, where there have been three major breaks since 1971, a Guard spokesman said all 140 installations in the state would have electronic alarm systems by next June.

In Washington, D.C., the National Guard Bureau said it provides guidelines on storing weapons and has paid 75 per cent of the cost of anti-intrusion devices since installation began in 1971. States must provide human guards at their own expense, a spokesman said.

He said 3,365 of the 4,333 weapons vaults around the nation are equipped with electronic alarm systems. Other officials said a wide variety of systems were used, some so sensitive that a knock on the door would set bells ringing at police headquarters.

Traffic Court

The holiday week of July 4 resulted in a heavy docket of traffic cases in Municipal Court Monday, including three cases of driving while intoxicated. Judge Reed M. Winegardner presided.

James A. Shoemaker, 64, Rt. 3, Washington C.H., was fined $200, was sentenced to three days in jail and lost his license for 30 days after he pleaded guilty to the DWI charge filed by Sheriff's deputies.

Mark D. Hixon, 21, Jonesboro, Ga., cited by the deputies for the same charge, received the same sentence after he pleaded guilty. He was also fined $35 on a reckless operation charge.

Lawrence R. Hurley, 28, of 104 E. Market St., was cited by the Ohio Highway Patrol for DWI. He pleaded guilty and was fined $250, was sentenced to 5 days in jail, and lost his driving privileges for 45 days.

Armored trucks nixed by board

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A State Lottery Commission request for $31,365 to purchase three armored trucks was rejected Monday by the State Controlling Board.

At least one member of the seven-member board—Sen. Douglas Applegate, D—30 Steubenville, said he wants more information about it.

He said he questions a commission estimate that as an alternative to buying the trucks, it will cost $20,226 a year for the commission to rent them.

Applegate also said he was told earlier by David Leahy, commission chairman, "that the commission is not going to need any armored vehicles or special security system."

The commission requested release of funds to buy the airconditioned trucks for $10,045 each to deliver lottery tickets to regional offices in Canton, Marietta, Columbus, Cincinnati, Dayton, and Toledo.

Lottery tickets are expected to go on sale Aug. 12.

In other business, the board approved seven requests by the Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation to enter into contracts for professional services. They totaled $1,027,800.

The Department of Natural Chamber groups to meet Friday

Members of the Washington C. H. Area Chamber of Commerce Ambassador Club and the Chamber's educational committee will meet Friday to prepare for upcoming events, according to Chamber president Bruce Galloway.

Chamber director Jim Vess will be meeting with Ambassador Club members at an 11:45 a.m. luncheon Friday. Vess said the group will be planning participation in the Fayette County Junior Fair livestock sales to be held July 24-26.

Donald Bailey, Chamber director in charge of the education committee, will meet with his group at 8 p.m. Friday to begin education work on the 1974 Teacher Get Acquainted Day program for all new educators in the Washington C.H. and Miami Trace School districts.

Resources are authorized to purchase, for $27,678, a .67-acre-tract of Richland County land which abuts the state-owned Malibar Farm, home of author Louis Bromfield. The property currently is owned by Carroll Mercury Sales Co.

In other business, the board approved:

—$2.5 million for the Ohio Board of Regents for its developmental instruction program to help needy students prepare for post secondary education.

—$86,259 for the purchase of equipment at Cincinnati Technical College and Cuyahoga County Community College.

—$3.6 million for the Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation for its local drug abuse programs.

—$17,000 for the Department of Natural Resources to purchase almost 17 acres from Richard P. and Molly O. Van Curen for an addition to the Cuyahoga Valley National Park project.

County prisoner rate increasing

Fayette County Sheriff Don Thompson has reported a jump in the number of persons incarcerated in the Fayette County jail.

The average is 15 and maximum capacity is 30. There are now 24 persons and this number has been maintained for the past two weeks. Sheriff Thompson attributes this figure to the efficiency of the Sheriff's Department and the present rise in the crime rate.

The Fayette County Juvenile Detention Center has a maximum capacity of 16 and Sheriff Thompson reports little, if any increase in juvenile offenders.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING ON THE CONCORD TOWNSHIP BUDGET Notice is hereby given that on the 19th day of July, 1974, at nine o'clock A.M., a public hearing will be held on the Budget prepared by the Trustees of Concord Township of Fayette County, Ohio, for the next succeeding fiscal year ending December 31st, 1974. Such hearing will be held at the office of the Concord Township Trustees Staunton, Ohio. CHARLES E. ELLIS ROBERT GARLAND OTTIS SMITH July 9

Fairborn trio nabbed in copper wire theft

Two Fairborn youths and one adult have been charged with the theft of copper wire from the Baltimore and Ohio Co. Railroad, near Edgefield, by Sheriff's Sgt. John Emrick, thanks to an alert Fayette County resident.

Fayette County Sheriff Don Thompson reported a nearby resident had called the Sheriff's Department to report a car sitting at the railroad crossing and its three occupants walking along the track at 9:45 p.m. Monday.

76 indicted; drug probe

FREMONT, Ohio (AP) — Grand juries in four northwestern Ohio counties returned indictments Monday against 76 persons for drug law violations, capping a four-month undercover operation by agents of the Ohio Bureau of Criminal Investigation.

By evening, 45 of those charged had been arrested and jailed in Sandusky, Erie, Ottawa and Seneca counties.

Officials said the investigation by eight agents began in March and included 38 drug purchases for a total of $8,000.

The grand juries returned 135 counts, most of them on drug law violation, but also including several other charges, including possession of stolen goods.

The first use of lenses to form a telescope is attributed to Roger Bacon of England, who died in 1292.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING ON THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES UNION TOWNSHIP BUDGET Notice is hereby given that on the 19th day of July, 1974, at 8:00 o'clock P.M., a public hearing will be held on the Budget prepared by the Board of Trustees Union Township of Fayette County Ohio, for the next succeeding fiscal year ending December 31st, 1975. Such hearing will be held at the office of the Board of Trustees Union Township. HARRY H. CAMPBELL Clerk of Union Twp. Fayette Co., Ohio July 9

LEGAL NOTICE Sealed bids will be received at the Marion Township Hall until 8:30 p.m. August 20, 1974 for resurfacing 1.795 miles of Township Road with 404 material 1 1/2 inches thick and 18 feet wide. Plans and specifications are on file in the Fayette County Engineers Office, Court House, Washington C.H., Ohio. Said bids shall be in writing on proposals on file in the County Engineer's Office and said shall be accompanied with a certified check or cash in the amount of $2,000.00 made payable to the Marion Township Trustees. Successful bidder must give bond acceptable to the Marion Township Trustees and enter into contract with said trustees within 10 days after date of sale. The Marion Township Trustees reserve the right to reject any or all bids. Completion date October 10, 1974 VINCENT G. MCKEE Clerk July 9, 16, 23

A license number was given and this information was relayed to the Greene County Sheriff's Department, which in turn dispatched a deputy to stop the car.

THE CAR was stopped in Fairborn approximately an hour and a half later. The occupants were then held for Sgt. Emrick.

The adult, Billy M. Travis, 21, Fairborn, has been charged with larceny and is presently incarcerated in the Fayette County jail in lieu of $1,000 bond. Both juveniles have been released to their parents and are awaiting a court hearing in juvenile court, Sheriff Thompson reports.

The larceny of a .38-caliber special revolver has also been reported by sheriff's deputies. The gun was taken from a dresser drawer sometime between 11 p.m. Saturday and 11 p.m. Monday, at the Mary Milstead residence in Jeffersonville. Investigation of the theft is continuing.

City police reported a rear tire valued at $65, slashed on a car owned by Victor Bandy, 606 Warren Ave., sometime between 12:01 a.m. and 9 a.m. Sunday.

Opening lead - queen of diamonds.

There are lucky hands as well as unlucky ones, but one of the most rewarding features of bridge lies in salvaging the unlucky hands.

Here is a typical case where West leads the queen of diamonds. West is unlikely to have the ace, so South ducks the queen as well as the J-9 when West continues the suit.

Declarer ruffs and notes the possibility of losing two club tricks if he finesesses the queen. Unwilling to expose himself to this danger, South draws three rounds of trumps and plays the K-6 of spades, finessing the jack. If West has the queen, South has his tenth trick; if he doesn't have the queen there is still the club finesse.

In the actual case, the spade finesse loses and South is obliged to ruff the diamond return. Down to his last chance, South tries a club finesse, but this too goes awry and the contract fails.

It is unlikely to find three cards — the ace of diamonds, queen of spades and king of clubs — all badly placed, but even so the outcome is largely declarer's fault. He did not take the safest line of play.

After ruffing the diamond at trick three, South should draw three rounds of trumps, ending in dummy, and play the king of diamonds.

With East producing the ace, declarer can easily afford to discard a club on the trick — a loser on loser play. This forces East to return a spade or a club, either of which hands South his tenth trick. The luck element is totally eliminated by this method of play.

Speaking of Your Health... Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

On-The-Job Dangers

I work at a blueprint and copy company. Ammonia is used as a developer and fumes from the machines are irritating to me. Can the ammonia be harmful to the lungs and eyes over a period of time?

Mrs. M. S., Wash.

Dear Mrs. S.: Ammonia fumes are a pollutant and undoubtedly are a source of irritation. The delicate lining of the bronchial tubes of the lungs and the covering of the eyes can be inflamed by constant exposure. Whether or not the ammonia can cause irreversible changes in these tissues should not be a matter of speculation. Certainly the ammonia can reduce the health of these tissues and increase their vulnerability to infections and other disorders.

No one in any industry should be exposed to this or any other type of hazard to health. Protective devices are part of the program of health in industry. Often employers are not made aware of existing dangers by workers who think that complaints will reflect badly on them. This is not true. Employers are willing to rectify all obvious dangers to the health of their workers. Should they fail to do so, pressure by local health agencies will insure that preventive measures are instituted.

I have been told that potassium leaves my body too rapidly. The doctor believes this is why I am so easily fatigued. Can the potassium cause such weakness?

Mrs. A. L. R., Fla.

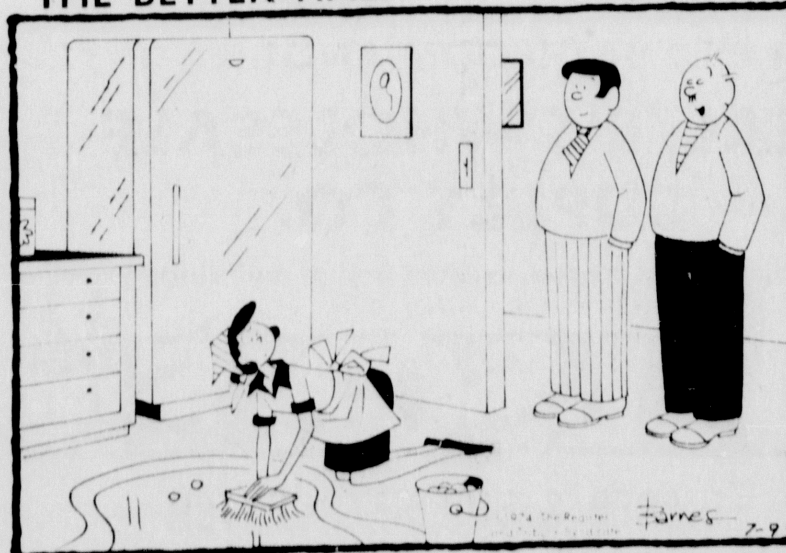

Dear Mrs. R.: Excessive loss of the chemical potassium can be responsible for some of the symptoms you describe. It is well known that such a loss called hypokalemia can produce marked muscular weakness and unusual fatigue. The reasons for the loss of potassium are attributed to complex problem in the kidneys, the intestines and in the hormone producing glands.

When the exact cause is found the loss of potassium can be stopped and later replenished. With the return to normal blood levels many of the distressing symptoms disappear.

STITCHER 'N' SNACKERS 4-H
The Stitchers and Snackers latest 4-H club meeting was opened by Brenda Garringer who also led the pledges. The members discussed going on a camping trip and the possibility of going canoeing. All the girls had their sewing projects and they were discussed and displayed. Also mentioned were booth decorations for the county fair.

Our next meeting is planned for Monday at the house of Reggie Roush. Carol Camstra, reporter

HAPPY HOMEMAKERS 4-H
The Happy Homemakers 4-H Club met at the Town Hall in Buena Vista Town Hall and a short business meeting was held before the club left for a tour of Candle Lite in Leesburg. Tickets were discussed the girls were selling for a money making project and the fair projects were also discussed. Mrs. Hardman, advisor, reminded each one as to the dates their books must be finished and turned in, also when their projects would be judged. The girls were also reminded about the mothers picnic to be held on July 11th. and the selling of ice cream at the Horse Show on July 7th.

The meeting was adjourned and members had a most enjoyable tour of the candle factory. They were shown the different kinds of candles, how they were made, packaged and shipped. Afterwards the club stopped for a treat at a drive-in restaurant before returning home.

HAPPY HOMEMAKERS 4-H
The final business meeting of the Happy Homemakers Club was opened by the President, Debbie Patton, at the Town Hall in Buena Vista. Pledges were read by Susan Wilson and roll call was answered by what you had learned in 4-H this year.

The secretaries report was read and approved. The Treasurer reported the bake sale at Buckeye Mart made $25.85 and the balance on hand was $36.27. Members were reminded of the ice cream to be sold at the Horse Show on July 7th. and of the Mothers Picnic to be held at Armeo Park on July 11th. All books are to be filled out at that time and made available for the Advisors to check.

Junior Leader Susan Wilson, a member of the Fashion Board, gave a demonstration on modeling at the fair. She gave several points on things the Judges look for and for the new girls in the club, told them they would be able to practice when their projects were judged before the fair.

The meeting was adjourned by the president and refreshments were served by Kim Brown.

In Focus by Charlie Pensyl

One morning last week we viewed two slide shows. These two shows told the simple story of what photography is all about as eloquently as any we've seen. The photographer had discovered beautiful scenes, not in far-off spots on other continents, but here in our own state — many of the most beautiful were Fayette County scenes. Here is proof that there is much beauty all around us; and the challenge to us is to see that beauty and skillfully record it on film. And that, my friend, is what photography is all about. Sound Simple?

Well, it's simple — and then again it isn't. First of all, you'd be surprised how many people don't recognize beauty when it stares them in the face. These people are to be pitied. But one can learn to see beauty. I've seen it happen often in CKFN classes. With some the breakthrough takes longer than with others. When they see it, man is that a revelation! But seeing something worth shooting is the first big step.

Step two, the art of getting the beauty properly recorded on film, is the more mechanical phase. It would start with a thorough study of the instruction book that came with your camera. Simple? Not as simple as the num-num that buys a good camera and lays aside the book without even reading it. But proper use of the camera goes far beyond just reading the manual. We're talking about practice, man, practice. Remember the hipster's directions to Carnegie Hall? Practice, man, practice. Then more study; more practice. But — and I kid you not — this is the fun of the hobby (or even profession) of photography. It's a thrill to see your work improve.

There are many who circle the globe in search of beauty to record with their cameras. These shows we saw last week prove that, if their quest is for beauty, they could just as well have stayed in this area. These are a couple of slide shows I'd be most proud to have made. Who was the photographer? Dale Wade. How about that?

Trudeau wins firm majority

TORONTO (AP) — Canadian voters swept Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau's ruling Liberal Party back into power in a smashing victory that gave him a solid majority in the House of Commons and the prospect of five more years in the office he has held since April 1968.

Complete returns from Monday's general election gave the Liberals 140 of the 264 seats in Commons, a majority of 16. This represented a gain of 31 seats over their showing in the 1972 election.

The other three parties lost ground badly. Robert Stanfield's Progressive Conservatives won 95 seats, a loss of 17. The New Democrats dropped from 31 to 16, and party leader David Lewis lost his own seat in Parliament. The Social Credit party dropped from 15 seats to 12, and one independent was elected.

It was a stunning comeback for the 54-year-old Trudeau. He came within two seats of losing the government to Stanfield in 1972, and only the support of Lewis and the New Democrats enabled him to hold on for 19 months at the head of a minority government. Now he can govern without the support of any other party.

Pollsters and political analysts had predicted a tight race, but the Liberals took an early lead in the Atlantic Maritime provinces and wrapped up the election in Ontario, the most populous province.

Inflation, now at nearly 11 per cent, was the big issue. Stanfield proposed a 90-day freeze on wages and prices followed by 18 months of flexible controls. Trudeau argued that controls didn't work in the United States or Britain and wouldn't work in Canada. He said the issue was who could best lead Canada.

In a low-key victory statement, Trudeau said Canada had elected a strong government in an uncertain world. "Canada has come out of this election strong and confident in its future," he declared. "I'm very anxious to get on with the job."

While the Liberals swept the East, the Conservatives maintained their strength in the West, and Trudeau said he regretted this geographical division. He renewed his pledge that federal policies will be applied fairly in the West.

Rule Nixon overstepped authority

NEW YORK (AP) — U.S. Customs Court has ruled that President Nixon overstepped his authority in ordering a 10 per cent surcharge on dutiable imports in 1971. It said the government must refund $500 million to importers.

A Justice Department official says the decision probably will be appealed.

A special three-judge Customs Court panel ruled unanimously on Monday that in imposing the surcharge Nixon "used a power beyond the scope of any authority delegated to him by the Congress."

The surcharge, designed to reverse an unfavorable balance of payments with foreign nations, was part of Nixon's Phase I economic controls and remained in effect four months.

"Neither need nor national emergency will justify the exercise of a power by the Executive not inherent in his office nor delegated by the Congress," wrote Chief Judge Nils A. Boe in the main opinion.

The government has 60 days in which to file an appeal with the Court of Customs and Patent Appeals in Washington. No refunds would change hands until such an appeal is ruled on.

The surcharge was in effect from Aug. 16 to Dec. 20, 1971. It was lifted after a number of foreign countries agreed to currency adjustments that would help the United States with its balance of payments problem.

It was the Yoshida case which was decided on Monday.

Although importers successfully protested to the government that they should be allowed to pass on the cost of the extra duty to consumers, the importers do not appear to be under any requirement to similarly pass along to consumers the refunds they may get, a Treasury Department spokesman said.

Say Agnew used U.S. embassies

WASHINGTON (AP) — A State Department spokesman says former Vice President Spiro T. Agnew while traveling in the Middle East this spring asked U.S. embassies to cancel appointments and make other arrangements because of his wife's illness.

However, the spokesman, John King, said Monday night it was not known how many requests were honored.

Cables sent from the embassy in Kuwait to embassies in Lebanon, Jordan and Saudi Arabia on May 25 said Agnew was requesting cancellation of some appointments, booking of a hotel reservation and arrangements for a car and driver to meet him at the Beirut, Lebanon, airport.

King said U.S. embassies customarily cancel appointments and perform other courtesies for visiting American businessmen, but don't normally arrange for autos.

Agnew's wife Judy underwent a hysterectomy May 2 and was hospitalized with complications later that month while Agnew was touring the Middle East.

Believe skeleton that of consul

HERMOSILLO, Mexico (AP) — Sonora state police hope to establish the identification today of a skeleton they believe to be that of U.S. Vice-Consul John Patterson, who was kidnapped March 22.

Lt. Col. Francisco Arellano, state police chief, said he was "pretty sure" the remains found in a dry creekbed about eight miles northwest of Hermosillo were Patterson's. He said he hoped Mrs. Patterson would arrive today to try to make the identification.

Arellano said a gold ring found on one finger of the skeleton carried the initials JLP and AML and it was believed these stood for John L. Patterson and Andra M. Latour, Mrs. Patterson's maiden name.

In Philadelphia, Patterson's sister, Joan Patterson Del Pozzo, said her brother's middle initial was "S" and not "L." The U.S. State Department said its records showed "S" as the middle initial.

Arellano said the skeleton was wearing clothing that matched the description of the clothes Patterson was wearing when he was last seen leaving the U. S. Consulate in Hermosillo on the morning of March 22 with an unidentified man.

Arellano said the skull of the skeleton had been fractured, in the front and at the base, "apparently bashed in with a heavy metal object" There also was a pelvic fracture, believed old.

The body apparently had been buried in the dry creekbed near a dirt path, but recent heavy rains uncovered the remains, Arellano said. The skeleton was found by a man looking for fruit.

Young Klan Grand Dragon credits Carnegie Course

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Dimmie Johnson, elected a Grand Dragon of the Ku Klux Klan at 19, says he owes it all to a Dale Carnegie personality improvement course.

Johnson, a Houston machinist, said the course "has really helped me in the Klan work. I've shown a great improvement."

He was elected Grand Dragon of the Texas Fiery Knights of the Ku Klux Klan at a meeting Sunday in Dallas. Johnson beat out two other men for the No. 2 post in the Fiery Knights behind Imperial Wizard Scott Nelson of Houston, who estimates membership at 200.

Johnson said he has been in the KKK about a year and is anxious to use his new position to improve the image of the organization.

"Our major problem in public relations is the image of the Klan," he said Monday in a telephone interview.

"We're trying to stay away from this violent sort of thing. Every now and then we get somebody in who wants this violence thing, but I don't know anybody in it now who believes that way, although we're not going to be pushed around by other people."

He said he joined "because I'm a white racist and I believe in the separation of the races and I believe the Klan is the best way of achieving that goal."

Blind magician makes mark with real sleight of hand

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Nigel Richards can't depend on marked cards or secret signals when he names the card a person picks. The 16-year-old magician is blind.

"You never can tell when something could go wrong and show up in front of people," says the Fort Lauderdale youth.

But he says he really has an advantage over sighted magicians.

"They have preconceived ideas and think that everything is done with secret compartments," he says. "I had to start from scratch. It really is sleight of hand."

Richards refuses to divulge any of his secrets, but he says he can do any kind of card trick and most conventional tricks such as cutting and restoring ropes and producing a string of handkerchiefs from a pocket.

Richards, who performs at parties, admits there are a few magical tricks he still has to perfect. However, he says there isn't one that his blindness prevents him from doing.

"I just have to get over my stage fright," he says. "I'm always afraid of fouling up somewhere."

Richards, an outstanding math and science student, says he became interested in magic when a friend told him about a man who could make things disappear.

"I know things can't just disappear because Newton's law says that matter can neither be created or destroyed," he says.

"So I decided I could do it myself."

2 counties OK garbage service

CHILLICOTHE, Ohio (AP) — Two Southeastern Ohio counties have given tentative approval to a 10-county garbage collection service.

Eight other counties — Gallia, Vinton, Lawrence, Pike, Scioto, Adams, Highland and Brown — will be asked to okay a proposal by the Ohio Valley Regional Development Commission.

The plan would provide containers for collection of trash at many points throughout the region.

Ross and Jackson counties have taken the first step toward the massive trash pickup by approving a feasibility study for one year.
